About Me

I'm a creative specialist with hands-on experience in marketing design, visual storytelling, and brand development across both in-house and agency environments. I enjoy bringing ideas to life through thoughtful design and finding creative solutions that help brands connect with people in a meaningful way. With a strong foundation in marketing and a growing background in business management, I'm currently pursuing an Associate in Arts as I work toward a future in art direction and creative leadership. I'm excited to bring both creativity and strategy to a team where I can continue growing while making a meaningful impact.
